Wife's Nude Picture Scandal. Infidelity. 70% / 521 647. with members of the Unit; and that some members of the Unit would sometimes ignore her and other insults would be made toward her. In this time period, she was assigned to work alongside inmates who had been charged with serious violent crimes, including convicted rapists. While working with these inmates, Crawford was the only female correctional officer on duty in the entire institution, and there were no female guards other than Crawford. Other female officers allegedly treated Crawford with *1093 disrespect and would not address her by her first name. In late 1995 or early 1996, Crawford again took an opportunity to be promoted to the position of Sergeant, but was passed over in favor of a male officer. As a result of Crawford's experience, she alleges that she has been diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder, and that she has suffered mental and emotional injuries, including depression, headaches, nightmares, flashbacks, and anxiety. Crawford seeks damages from the City, alleging that it failed to maintain safe working conditions for her, that it discriminated against her, and that it violated her right to equal protection of the law. Crawford also brings a claim against the City under the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the Constitution of the United States and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, alleging that the City retaliated against her in violation of her First Amendment rights because she complained about the conduct of members of the Unit. In addition, Crawford seeks a declaratory judgment that Article 10 § 4 of the New York State Constitution prohibits the City from requiring officers in the NYPD to work in dangerous, inhumane and unsafe conditions. DISCUSSION I. Summary Judgment Standard Summary judgment is appropriate when "there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and... the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Fed.R.Civ.P. 56(c). The moving party bears the initial burden of "informing the district court of the basis for its motion" and identifying the matter " that it believes demonstrate[s] the absence of a genuine issue of material fact." Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323, 106 S.Ct. 2548, 91 L.Ed.2d 265 (1986) (quoting Fed.R.Civ.P. 56(c)). The burden then shifts to the non-moving party to "set
